Length of Decree May Be Reduced Later

All dogs in Circleville and Pickaway county will be placed under a 90-day quarantine Monday as a precaution against rabies epidemics in nearby counties spreading into this district.

The quarantines were announced Friday noon by Dr. V. D. Kerns, county health commissioner, and J. F. Mavis, city commissioner.

Under regulations of the quarantine dogs must be kept penned or tied. All unlicensed or stray dogs are to be reported to Harry Riffle, county dog warden.

"There is the danger of straying dogs from nearby counties drifting into Pickaway county with the disease," Dr. Kerns said, "and through the quarantine we will be able to catch the dogs and prevent the disease spreading in this district."

There have been no reports of rabid dogs to either the city or county health offices in recent weeks.

"It may not be necessary to keep the quarantine on the full 90 days," the doctor said. "The length of the quarantine will depend on conditions in the nearby counties."

Spanish Ambassador Tells Eden 30,000 of Duce's Soldiers on Front

INTERVENTION CHARGED

Columns Resume Offensive Against Capital

LONDON, March 12 (UP)—Pablo De Azcarate, Spanish ambassador, visited Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today and communicated full details of the role being played by what he described as the Italian war machine in the latest drive against Madrid.

Azcarate was believed to have asked Britain to present to the non-intervention committee the loyalist government's allegations concerning Italy's "unwarranted wholesale intervention" in the battles raging around Madrid.

Eden was expected to comply after foreign office officials have examined the ambassador's material.

According to one version, Azcarate submitted evidence that at least 30,000 Italian troops are fighting with the rebels on the Guadalajara front.

Captured Men Talk

Another account gave a considerably higher estimate. The evidence submitted was based partly on testimony of Italians captured by the loyalists this week.

Two rebel columns, preceded by tanks and armored cars drove downhill toward Guadalajara, three miles away, crossing fields knee-deep in snow in the face of a driving wind and rain storm.

One column operated along a railway by way of suburban Colgolludo, where the nationalists had occupied during the night, while the other passed the highest point on the Taracena road. Still more nationalist troops advanced on Guadalajara from Trijueque, on the main Barcelona-Madrid road.

At the other end of the 27-mile government main line of resistance, another nationalist column began an attack on Sacedon.

"I do not know anything about it."

Dykstra was confined to his home with a cold when reached yesterday.

The Journal said the presidency of the university, succeeding Dr. Glenn Frank, would be offered to Dykstra within a few days. The formal action of the regents on the appointment will be made March 18 at the next meeting at Madison, Wis., the newspaper said.

DEVANEY PLEADS FOR PRESIDENT'S JUDICIARY BILL

WASHINGTON, March 12 (UP)—Former Minnesota Chief Justice John P. Devaney charged today that proposed constitutional amendments to require a two-thirds decision by the supreme court on constitutional cases would throw the balance of power to "three or four obtuse justices."

Testifying as the third witness supporting President Roosevelt's judicial reorganization before the senate judiciary committee, Devaney contended that proposals requiring two-thirds vote by the high court would endanger civil and religious liberties.

He called for enactment of the president's court enlargement plan as the best solution of a situation which he contended threatened the nation's whole court system.

The amendment plan, he said, "would put completely within the control of a minority of three or four judges the power of preventing the court from declaring an act unconstitutional—that is the power of life and death over the civil and religious liberties we have so traditionally prized."

Union, General Motors Threaten New Strife

DETROIT, March 12 (UP)—A new conflict between the United Automobile workers and the General Motors corporation threatened today to complicate efforts to settle strikes in three companies that have thrown 78,000 employees out of work.

Representatives of the union and the corporation meet today. But the atmosphere of cordiality that had existed since settlement of the recent 44-day strike had been shattered by charges that both sides had violated the Feb. 11 strike peace.

What was scheduled to be a final conference yesterday in post-strike negotiations broke up abruptly after General Motors representatives blamed the union for 18 sit-down demonstrations in G. M. plants within the last 20 days.

"Unjustness" Charged

Union delegates replied that the corporation had discharged workers "unjustly," had intimidated others had "encouraged the growth of company unions."

The strained relations between the union and General Motors added new difficulties to be overcome before industrial peace can be restored to this strike-ridden automotive center.

Sit-down strikers remained in possession of nine plants of the Chrysler corporation. They declared that they would not move until the company agreed to recognize the U. A. W. as sole collective bargaining agency for 67,000 employees.

The corporation already has taken steps to oust the 6,000 sit-downers through court action. A hearing will be held tomorrow on the company's plea that the strikers had become "ex-employees and trespassers" because they violated plant rules and, therefore, an injunction should be granted to compel their evacuation.

MRS. MAGRUDER DISCHARGED BY WELFARE CHIEF

COLUMBUS, March 12 (UP)—Mrs. Luella Magruder, superintendent of the division of charities, was dismissed today by Welfare Director Margaret M. Allman.

In a letter to Mrs. Magruder, Mrs. Allman said: "It is necessary for me to remove you . . . for the good of the service."

Mrs. Allman said she had talked to the governor and the dismissal letter was written with his approval.

"In our opinion, Mrs. Magruder has been a storm center," Mrs. Allman said. "There has been dissension ever since she came in."

Mrs. Magruder was appointed to the $4,000-a-year job two years ago by Gov. Davey to succeed Miss Mary Irene Atkinson, a professional social worker.

Welfare organizations protested the appointment, charging it was made for "political reasons."

In less than a year, however, the administration unsuccessfully attempted to remove Mrs. Magruder for allegedly refusing to discharge several civil service workers without written orders from Mrs. Allman.

P-T. A. TO URGE 9-MEMBER STATE EDUCATION BODY

COLUMBUS, March 12 (UP)—Representatives of the central district of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers today were to submit to Governor Davey and the house education committee resolutions favoring creation of a state board of education and continuation of civil service in the state government.

The 600 P-T.A. representatives from 14 central Ohio counties adopted these resolutions at their 14th annual conference.

The group also declared its opposition to a reduction in the liquid fuel tax until "some provision is made for schools," pledged themselves to a continuation of the school foundation law and endorsed the appropriation of state funds for flood damaged schools.

Voting in favor of the establishment of a state board of education the group endorsed the proposed constitutional amendment which would set up such a body composed of nine members.

NEUTRALITY ACT TO FACE FIGHT BEFORE SOLONS

WASHINGTON, March 12 (UP)—The McReynolds neutrality bill came before the house today in the midst of mounting controversy over how to keep America out of war.

The measure, delegating the president broader discretion than does the Pittman bill already passed by the senate, faced attempts to amend it from three factions. They were:

1. Liberal-progressives who planned a fight against giving the chief executive discretionary powers over sales of war materials to belligerents.
2. Republicans who opposed the "broad aims" of the legislation.
3. A few Democrats who advanced restricting amendments.

SLATE BARRIEN BLOCKS RESCUE AT LOGAN, W. VA.

Three Bodies Recovered; Slight Possibility Seen of Others Surviving

BLACK DAMP BLAMED

Roof Caves in, Splintered Timber Endangering Men

LOGAN, W. Va., March 12 (UP)—A barrier of slate and splintered timber stood today between a professional rescue crew and 16 miners trapped by a terrific explosion in the MacBeth mine of the Hutchinson Coal Co., eight miles from here.

The bodies of three miners who apparently died the moment of the explosion were found. Rescue workers and mine officials could only guess as to the fate of the others.

"There is a slight possibility the 16 men may be alive," Jerry E. Hanford, district mine inspector in charge of rescue work, told the United Press.

H. N. Clendening of the rescue crew explained that the explosion might have trapped some of the 16 men in a chamber where they could live for a time if they were not dead. He said, however, there was little hope of their surviving.

The explosion, which occurred shortly before one shift of miners was to go to work last night, was the second in the mine in recent months and the fourth in MacBeth's history. An explosion last September took 10 lives.

Black Damp Blamed

Officials of the state mining department believed black damp had caused the explosion. It occurred about two and three-quarters miles from the entrance of the slope mine and was more severe than that last fall.

Harry Cummings and Gilbert Kennedy, who were operating an electric supply train in the mine, told of the force of the explosion. They were about 1600 feet from the center of the explosion and driving toward the main shaft. They were almost knocked off the car by the force.

Slate was blown off one of the cars, they said.

Kennedy threw the car in reverse and started back toward the scene of the explosion.

They were halted by a slate fall before they had gone far. Breathing was difficult because of the dust. They decided to turn back. On the way they met "Shorty" Hill, the night mine boss.

Hill and Cummings walked back to entry 11 and found the roof caved in.

"We found a six-inch timber in the headers broken into five or six pieces," Cummings said. "The timber had been about six-by-ten and had been used to support the roof."

They proceeded to Entry 12 left where they found the body of Joe Frye, motorman of a mine car. He was lying on a piece of motor. Soon after the body of Troy McCoy, Frye's brakeman, was found. At this time the first rescue crew entered and met Hill and Cummings.

The center of the explosion was described as being in Entry 16. Rescue workers estimated it might require four days to clear the passageways of slate and debris.

2,000 at Mouth

Early last night a crowd of 2,000 gathered outside the mine entrance. Spectators talked quietly in little groups.

Hours went by and little word came from the mine where the rescue crew toiled slowly toward the entombed men. By morning the crowd outside had dwindled to 150. It was bitterly cold outside.

Names of the trapped miners could not be learned immediately.

DETROIT, March 12—(UP)—A new conflict between the United Automobile workers and the General Motors corporation threatened today to complicate efforts to settle strikes in three companies that have thrown 78,000 employees out of work.

Representatives of the union and the corporation meet today. But the atmosphere of cordiality that had existed since settlement of the recent 44-day strike had been shattered by charges that both sides had violated the Feb. 11 strike peace.

What was scheduled to be a final conference yesterday in post-strike negotiations broke up abruptly after General Motors representatives blamed the union for 18 sit-down demonstrations in G. M. plants within the last 20 days.

"Unjustness" charged
Union delegates replied that the corporation had discharged workers "unjustly," had intimidated others had "encouraged the growth of company unions."

The strained relations between the union and General Motors added new difficulties to be overcome before industrial peace can be restored to this strike-ridden automotive center.

Sit-down strikers remained in possession of nine plants of the Chrysler corporation. They declared that they would not move until the company agreed to recognize the U. A. W. as sole collective bargaining agency for 67,000 employees.

The corporation already has taken steps to oust the 6,000 sit-downers through court action. A hearing will be held tomorrow on the company's plea that the strikers had become "ex-employees and trespassers" because they violated plant rules and, therefore, an injunction should be granted to compel their evacuation.

In a letter to Mrs. Magruder, Mrs. Allman said, "It is necessary for me to remove you . . . for the good of the service."

Mrs. Allman said she had talked to the governor and the dismissal letter was written with his approval.

"In our opinion, Mrs. Magruder has been a storm center," Mrs. Allman said. "There has been dissension ever since she came in."

Mrs. Magruder was appointed to the $4,000-a-year job two years ago by Gov. Davey to succeed Miss Mary Irene Atkinson, a professional social worker.

Welfare organizations protested the appointment, charging it was made for "political reasons."

In less than a year, however, the administration unsuccessfully attempted to remove Mrs. Magruder for allegedly refusing to discharge several civil service workers without written orders from Mrs. Allman.

The 600 P-T.A. representatives from 14 central Ohio counties adopted these resolutions at their 14th annual conference.

The group also declared its opposition to a reduction in the liquid fuel tax until "some provision is made for schools;" pledged themselves to a continuation of the school foundation law and endorsed the appropriation of state funds for flood damaged schools.

Voting in favor of the establishment of a state board of education the group endorsed the proposed constitutional amendment which would set up such a body composed of nine members.

SLATE BARRIER BLOCKS RESCUE AT LOGAN, W. VA.

Three Bodies Recovered; Slight Possibility Seen of Others Surviving

BLACK DAMP BLAMED
Roof Caves in, Splintered Timber Endangering Men

LOGAN, W. Va., March 12—(UP)—A barrier of slate and splintered timber stood today between a professional rescue crew and 16 miners trapped by a terrific explosion in the MacBeth mine of the Hutchinson Coal Co., eight miles from here.

The bodies of three miners who apparently died the moment of the explosion were found. Rescue workers and mine officials could only guess as to the fate of the others.

"There is a slight possibility the 16 men may be alive," Jerry H. Hansford, district mine inspector in charge of rescue work, told the United Press.

H. N. Clendenen of the rescue crew explained that the explosion might have trapped some of the 16 men in a chamber where they could live for a time if there were no deadly gases. He said, however, there was little hope of their being alive.

The explosion, which occurred shortly before one shift of miners was to go to work last night, was the second in the mine in recent months and the fourth in MacBeth's history. An explosion last September took 10 lives.

Black Damp Blamed
Officials of the state mining department believed black damp had caused the explosion. It occurred about two and three-quarters miles from the entrance of the slope mine and was more severe than that last fall.

Harry Cummings and Gilbert Kennedy, who were operating an electric supply train in the mine, told of the force of the explosion. They were about 1600 feet from the center of the explosion and driving toward the main shaft. They were almost knocked off the car by the force.

Slate was blown off one of the cars, they said.

FORD RAPS HIS POLITICAL FOES IN CHILLICOTHE

Mayor Says Petitions For Street Work Merely Idea to "Defeat Me"

OTHER ACTIONS ATTACKED

Protest to be Made to Ohio Highway Department

CHILLICOTHE, March 12 — Charging that his opponents were endeavoring to make political capital out of the poor conditions of city streets, Mayor James E. Ford hurled a deft at elements of the Democratic organization, Thursday.

Moreover, he told Service Director Russell H. Hampton not to apologize to his foes for the streets, but to "tell them to go jump in the lake."

Scene of the mayor's declaration was the mayor's office at City Hall, where a reporter found Mr. Ford in conference with Service Director Hampton, Safety Director Carl P. Orr, and two service department workers, Al McFarland and Ralph Capretta.

Working Toward Primary Taking cognizance of Wednesday's reports that petitions were being circulated in the fourth ward to ask council for relief against the rough streets, the mayor said the petitions "were the handwriting on the wall to defeat me in the primary."

He declared the Democratic organization, "headed by the Claypools" were bent on beating him and "putting over a long term electric light ordinance."

Interrupted—A Moment When Service Director Hampton interjected: "We're fixing the streets as fast as possible," the mayor broke in and said:

"Don't apologize. If they kick to you, tell them to go jump in the lake." The mayor added that six miles of streets had been graded in the past nine days by use of No. 77 grader.

Asked if he intended to run in the Democratic primary, Mr. Ford said:

"Sure, I'm a Democrat, you know that. I'm a 100 per cent Roosevelt Democrat and I voted for every Democrat on the ticket, except for (Congressman Harold K.) Claypool."

Going on to unburden himself of some of the difficulties he had encountered in his 14 months of office, Mr. Ford said:

A Raw Deal "When I took office, the city was bankrupt. I've had a raw deal and been misquoted in the newspapers."

On being asked for a specific example of newspaper error, the mayor said: "I don't mean misquoted, but I've received a lot of blame that was unnecessary from the newspapers." He admitted that he referred specifically to his discharge of Service Director Edgar B. Hess.

The mayor directed a verbal attack at Mr. Fred Ahlstrand, 792 East Main street, who confirmed Wednesday that he was helping circulate the petition in the fourth ward, and charged that he was being used as a tool by Mr. Ford's enemies within the Democratic organization.

Friends reported Thursday that the mayor had said he intended to write a letter to the state highway department protesting Mr. Ahlstrand's activities. Mr. Ahlstrand is employed at the state highway garage here.

AT THE CIRCLE

What would you think of a young woman who expressed tense devotion to her husband, and yet deliberately eloped with another man? You'd probably list her as being either crazy, or set her down as a wanton who betrayed the one she married.

But maybe you'll change your opinion after seeing "The Crooked Trail," the new thrill-Western, starring Johnny Mack Brown, which comes to the Circle tonight and Saturday.

Rev. Ferguson Sells Two Acres of His Property West of Camp Ground

IMPROVEMENTS PLANNED

Tabernacle May be Enlarged for Year's Services

Addition of two acres of land to the Mount of Praise camp ground, operated by the Churches of Christ in Christian Union of Ohio, was announced Friday by Rev. O. L. Ferguson, camp ground superintendent.

The land was purchased by the organization from Rev. Ferguson. It is located back of Rev. Ferguson's home on E. Ohio street and lies west of the camp grounds.

So far the grounds committee has made no definite plans for improvements this year. Additional dormitories were added last year and plans were considered at that time for enlarging the tabernacle. The tabernacle improvements may be made this year.

PART OF COUNTY PUPILS TESTED BY D. R. KERNS

Fifty-one freshmen have taken preliminary tuberculosis tests so far in the health program being conducted in the county schools by Dr. V. D. Kerns, health commissioner.

The schools visited to date are Pickaway, Salt Creek, Walnut, Ashville, Washington, Atlanta and Jackson. The tests are given with the consent of the parents.

He planned to return to Jackson and Atlanta Friday morning then visit Williamsport, New Holland, Monroe and Derby. There are between 270 and 280 freshmen in the county schools.

The tests are conducted by the county boards of health and education and the Public Health League. Funds to conduct the tests were obtained through the sale of Christmas seals.

New Hosts to Mrs. Simpson

MR. AND MRS. Charles Bedaux, above, are the new hosts to Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson in their chateau near Tours, France. Bedaux is an industrial engineer of Cleveland and New York. Mrs. Bedaux is the former Miss Fern Lombard of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Remember When?

Circleville's town clock was installed in the present tower?

Records being compiled by WPA workers for a chronological history of the county show the commissioners purchased the clock and bell in 1872. It was installed in the present tower in 1878 when improvements were made at the courthouse.

T. K. Brunner, father of Fred Brunner, supervised the work and took care of the clock until his death. His son, Fred, succeeded him in the work. The clock cost $708.70; the bell $586.78. It requires winding once weekly. Weights operate the clock. The time weight weighs 100 pounds and the striking weight 820 pounds.

The recent earthquake caused the veteran timepiece to lose about five minutes.

MAJOR PARTIES SLASH DEFICITS WITH DONATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 12. — (UP)—The Democratic and Republican national committees showed today in their reports to congress that they still have deficits but that they are moving toward balanced budgets.

The Democratic committee report showed an unpaid balance after the first two months of 1937 of $490,185. The Republican report revealed accounts payable of $912,149.

Sales of the deluxe Democratic national convention book aided in raising party funds, the report showed. To help offset the Republican debt former Gov. Alfred M. Landon, defeated G. O. P. president candidate, chipped in $1,000.

The Republican national committee listed total receipts during January and February of $100,415—$97,786 of it contributions, disbursements of $42,978 and pledges of $10,784.

FAMOUS ITALIAN MAY TRY FLYING TO HIS DEATH

GARDONE, Italy, March 12. — (UP)—Gabriele D'Annunzio, soldier, poet and great lover, is toying with the idea of plunging to death in an airplane laden with bombs instead of dissolving himself in chemicals to avoid dying unpoetically in bed, his friends said today.

Some of the friends in turn, toyed with the fear that D'Annunzio might select as the occasion for his proposed grand exit tomorrow, his 74 birthday.

D'Annunzio, according to reports, had fixed on the chemical bath as the best means of anticipating the "agony" of dying "between bed sheets" as he put it in a recent letter to Achille Starace, secretary general of the fascist party.

But he visited the Trieste shipyards recently, happened to see an aerial bombing exhibition, and conceived the idea that it might be better to fly high up into the sky in a bomb laden plane and plunge down onto an Alp, thus ending himself about as effectively as if he had melted himself.

Bern, Switzerland
March 2, 1937

Dear Ellabelle:

I would like to tell you about the Alps mountains. The Alps are south of Switzerland. The river that runs through the Alps is the Rhone river.

A Swiss lake is very deep. The lakes of Switzerland are large and small. The lakes of Switzerland are so long that they would reach halfway from New York to Philadelphia. Others are only pools in the mountain hollow.

The rivers of Switzerland are Rhine, Rhone, Po, and Danube. The waterfalls are so steep that a boat can not run on them. They fall many thousands of feet.

An Alpine glacier is a river of ice. It moves the distance of a schoolroom desk in a day.

An avalanche is a snowslide.

Your friend
Betty Burgett.

Careful of Dogs

The epidemic of rabies in Franklin county with a closed season on dogs for six months, should make all of us here particularly cautious about the dogs running at large all about us. A dark-gray police hound such as described in a Columbus paper yesterday as rabid and escaping, was seen here Thursday evening, acting strangely. Too much caution about strange dogs can not be taken now.

Figures Too Low

We told Wednesday about the daily consumption of water in Ashville for both the winter and summer months, and too, of the drilling of a new well. The figures seemed high to us. 23,000 gallons daily average for winter and 50,000 gallons for summer average. On re-checking found that this amount is under the estimate rather than over it. Failed to mention that there are 240 services which is much above the estimate made when the water service first came into use.

Careful of Dogs

The epidemic of rabies in Franklin county with a closed season on dogs for six months, should make all of us here particularly cautious about the dogs running at large all about us. A dark-gray police hound such as described in a Columbus paper yesterday as rabid and escaping, was seen here Thursday evening, acting strangely. Too much caution about strange dogs can not be taken now.

New Grocery Truck

The Cain grocery has treated itself to an elegant delivery truck, but as Guy says, "not before we needed it."

Church Begins With 50

The Christian Union church recently organized here, is pleased with the beginning it has made. Fifty in attendance at Sabbath school and a good round hundred at church services.

Figures too Low

We told Wednesday about the daily consumption of water in Ashville for both the winter and summer months, and too, of the drilling of a new well. The figures seemed high to us, 23,000 gallons daily average for winter and 50,000 gallons for summer average. On re-checking found that this amount is under the estimate rather than over it. Failed to mention that there are 240 services which is much above the estimate made when the water service first came into use.

Open Sewing House

Open house for Ashville sewing room, Thursday, March 18. The hours, 8:30 a. m. till 5 p. m. Everyone invited. Sure we are urging you to visit the Ashville sewing room on next Thursday, March 18, I. Davey Receives House Bill to Force Payment For Care of Wards

OVER $3,000,000 OWED

Educators May Issue Notes Anticipating Revenues

Pickaway county will not be hurt by the new state law concerning ward debts. All the county's bills for care of patients in state hospitals and institutions are paid up.

COLUMBUS, March 12—(UP)—Ohio's county governments faced stoppage of sales tax revenues for local operating expenses today after the house concurred in senate amendments to the Davis bill and sent the measure to Gov. Davey for his signature.

The bill was strongly objected to by many county officials who contended the measure, if passed, would precipitate a crisis in many of the hard-pressed subdivisions.

To Withhold Funds
The bill provides the state auditor shall withhold the sales tax allocations to counties indebted to the state for maintenance of wards in state institutions. A total of $3,152,975 is owed by the counties, it was estimated.

The bill passed the house by a vote of 81 to 8.

The house also completed action on a bill introduced by Rep. A. Lee Fair, D., Holmes, authorizing local boards of education to raise funds by issuance of notes in anticipation of revenues.

Non-resident hunters would be required to pay the same license fee as is charged by their own state under provisions of a bill passed unanimously by the house and sent to the senate. A minimum fee of $5 would be established, however.

The house also passed a bill introduced by Rep. Robert F. Kaser, D., Shelby, prohibiting pawnbrokers from purchasing firearms and other military equipment used by the United States army. Vote on

Death a Mystery

MYSTERY death of Olive M. Lawrence, 22, of Milton, Mass., puzzles police. Miss Lawrence was found dead in her father's automobile in the garage at their home, the victim of carbon monoxide poisoning. Investigation disclosed that the car switch was turned off.

The bill was 102 to 0. It now goes to the senate.

House amendments were concurred in by the senate on a bill introduced by Sen. Emerson Campbell, D., Belmont, providing for state contributions to the state employees' retirement system.

According to Campbell, the bill will enable state employees to enjoy the same benefits available to private employees under the social security law.

Newspapers of 1831 Disclose Many Interesting News, Business Notes

By FRANKLIN KIBLER

It wasn't necessary to have money in your pockets in Circleville in 1831 to go shopping.

All you needed was some "approved country produce," an ad in The Circleville Herald and Ohio Olive-Branch explained.

The "approved" produce suggestions included wheat, clover, seed, timothy seed, flax, rye, oats, corn, dried fruit, feathers, rags, tallow, bees wax, linsey, flour, whiskey, hides and "almost every other article offered."

This advertisement, appearing in the Nov. 19 issue of the newspaper, was for N. S. Gregg & Co., and pointed out the firm had just received "a heavy and general assortment" of fall and winter goods consisting of dry goods, groceries, liquors, dye stuffs, hardware, china, glass and queensware.

Four Paper's Shown
Editions of the newspaper of Nov. 19 and Dec. 17, 24 and 31, 1831, were shown at The Herald office Thursday by Mrs. Eleanor M. Bissell, E. Main street. Mrs. Bissell believes the papers were kept by Dr. Lewis Wolfley, her grandfather, who came to Circleville in 1818. He started practicing here in 1830 and in 1833 became a surgeon in the U. S. navy. Dr. Wolfley died in 1843 in Africa and was buried there. The newspapers were kept in the old Fickard homestead on E. Main street and are in a splendid state of preservation.

William B. Thrall was editor and proprietor of the publication and mayor at that time. The Nov. 19 issue contains a notice of C. F. Dresbach purchasing the shop jewelry stock of Mr. Ely "at the old stand east of the courthouse," formation of the partnership of Rogers & Martin, and a public notice on petitions to be presented to the General Assembly for establishment of a state road running through "the new town of Lockbourne."

In the same issue a three-cent reward was offered by Jacob Burget, for a runaway boy. The advertisement follows: "Ran away from the subscriber about the 20th of October last, an indentured boy to the shoemaking business, named Samuel Robinson, about 17. He took with him his ordinary wearing apparel and a kit of old tools, of little value except for their antiquity. Whoever will apprehend and return said runaway shall be entitled to the above reward but without thanks or charges."

Other firms advertising at the time were Harriott & Rhoads, cabinet and chair makers; M. S. Butler & Co., grain dealers; Hartwell & Titus, J. & G. Cook and W. Henry's House. Practically the entire back page of the issue was used by Joseph Hedges, county auditor for the advertisement of forfeited lands.

Tailors of the period listed in the old papers were Myers & Chain, John W. Brenner and G. C. Gephart.

The Dec. 17 issue contains a lengthy ordinance passed by city council "to secure the inhabitants of Circleville against injury from fire." It explains four "judicious and discreet" persons will be named by council as wardens to examine stoves and other fixtures against fire hazards. The fee for fire hazard examination by a warden was 25 cents. It fixed a fine of not more than $10 or less than $2 for a person convicted of entering a stable with an "unsheltered candle, lamp or torch."

Established in 1817

The Olive Branch was established Aug. 9, 1817, when the county was only seven years old, by James Foster, who served as the first editor.

The bill was strongly objected to by many county officials who contended the measure, if passed, would precipitate a crisis in many of the hard-pressed subdivisions.

To Withhold Funds
The bill provides the state auditor shall withhold the sales tax allocations to counties indebted to the state for maintenance of wards in state institutions. A total of $3,152,975 is owed by the counties, it was estimated.

The bill passed the house by a vote of 81 to 8.

The house also completed action on a bill introduced by Rep. A. Lee Fair, D., Holmes, authorizing local boards of education to raise funds by issuance of notes in anticipation of revenues.

Non-resident hunters would be required to pay the same license fee as is charged by their own state under provisions of a bill passed unanimously by the house and sent to the senate. A minimum fee of $5 would be established, however.

The house also passed a bill introduced by Rep. Robert F. Kaser, D., Shelby, prohibiting pawnbrokers from purchasing firearms and other military equipment used by the United States army. Vote on the bill was 102 to 0. It now goes to the senate.

House amendments were concurred in by the senate on a bill introduced by Sen. Emerson Campbell, D., Belmont, providing for state contributions to the state employees' retirement system.

According to Campbell, the bill will enable state employees to enjoy the same benefits available to private employees under the social security law.

WASHINGTON C. H., March 12—The Washington C. H. Business and Civic organization is mapping a campaign to obtain a branch of a $2,000,000 concern for its city. The name of the industry, which is now located in the flood area, has not been disclosed.

Newspapers of 1831 Disclose Many Interesting News, Business Notes

By FRANKLIN KIBLER

It wasn't necessary to have money in your pockets in Circleville in 1831 to go shopping.

All you needed was some "approved country produce", an ad in The Circleville Herald and Ohio Olive-Branch explained.

The "approved" produce suggestions included wheat, clover, seed, timothy seed, flax, rye, oats, corn, dried fruit, feathers, rags, tallow, bees wax, linsey, flour, whiskey, hides and "almost every other article offered."

This advertisement, appearing in the Nov. 19 issue of the newspaper, was for N. S. Gregg & Co., and pointed out the firm had just received "a heavy and general assortment" of fall and winter goods consisting of dry goods, groceries, liquors, dye stuffs, hardware, china, glass and queensware.

Four Paper's Shown

Editions of the newspaper of Nov. 19 and Dec. 17, 24 and 31, 1831, were shown at The Herald office Thursday by Mrs. Eleanor M. Bissell, E. Main street. Mrs. Bissell believes the papers were kept by Dr. Lewis Wolfley, her grandfather, who came to Circleville in 1818. He started practicing here in 1830 and in 1833 became a surgeon in the U. S. navy. Dr. Wolfley died in 1843 in Africa and was buried there. The newspapers were kept in the old Fickard homestead on E. Main street and are in a splendid state of preservation.

William B. Thrall was editor and proprietor of the publication and mayor at that time. The Nov. 19 issue contains a notice of C. F. Dresbach purchasing the shop jewelry stock of Mr. Ely "at the old stand east of the courthouse," formation of the partnership of Rogers & Martin, and a public notice on petitions to be presented to the General Assembly for establishment of a state road running through "the new town of Lockbourne."

In the same issue a three-cent reward was offered by Jacob Burget, for a runaway boy. The advertisement follows: "Ran away from the subscriber about the 20th of October last, an indentured boy to the shoemaking business, named Samuel Robinson, about 17. He took with him his ordinary wearing apparel and a kit of old tools, of little value except for their antiquity. Whoever will apprehend and return said runaway shall be entitled to the above reward but without thanks or charges."

Other Firms Listed

Other firms advertising at the time were Harriott & Rhoads, cabinet and chair makers; M. S. Butler & Co., grain dealers; Hartwell & Titus, J. & G. Cook and W. Henry's House. Practically the entire back page of the issue was used by Joseph Hedges, county auditor for the advertisement of forfeited lands.

Tailors of the period listed in the old papers were Myers & Chain, John W. Brenner and G. C. Gephart.

The Dec. 17 issue contains a lengthy ordinance passed by city council "to secure the inhabitants of Circleville against injury from fire." It explains four "judicious and discreet" persons will be named by council as wardens to examine stoves and other fixtures against fire hazards. The fee for fire hazard examination by a warden was 25 cents. It fixed a fine of not more than $10 or less than $2 for a person convicted of entering a stable with an "unsheltered candle, lamp or torch."

Established in 1817
The Olive Branch was established Aug. 9, 1817, when the county was only seven years old, by James Foster, who served as the first editor.

What is believed to be the oldest copy of the paper in existence is No. 12 dated Oct. 26, 1817, and owned by The Circleville Herald.

NEW C C C RULING

D. H. Marcy, relief director, announces a change in regulations of eligibility for CCC enrollment. He reports that four months of previous service to be eligible for re-selection has been revoked. This is the only change to be made. Any previously enrolled applicant who has been honorably discharged for a period of one year is eligible for re-selection. Another quota of boys will be sent from Pickaway county between April 1 and 20. Boys wishing to make application should contact the relief office at once.

"ALL-BRAN SAVED ME FROM A LIFETIME OF SUFFERING"

"I had suffered from constipation for three years. My condition was becoming really serious, when I read of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN."

"I bought a package. Within two weeks, my bowels were regular, and I began to enjoy living again. It has saved me from a lifetime of suffering."—Mrs. Lloyd Baird, 384 S. Bannock St., Denver, Colo.

Try ALL-BRAN yourself. It corrects the common type of constipation. Within the body, it absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Just eat two tablespoonsful daily. Three times daily in severe cases. As a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes.

Isn't it better to eat this wholesome food than to take pills and drugs that may be harmful and often lose their effect? ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

OPEN LETTERS

TO SEAL PURCHASERS

FRIENDS: Few appeals for public attention and support come with more reason and urgency than the one made annually in behalf of crippled children. In a modern world which moves swiftly and sometimes ruthlessly, it is warming and satisfying to know there are agencies devoted exclusively to the welfare of these deserving youngsters. Starting life, many of them, with less than a full chance, most of the boys and girls crippled by disease or accident have acquired through modern science an opportunity to live a complete and happy life. Problems arise in finding the children early enough in life for satisfactory treatment and in taking them to hospitals and schools where the wonders of modern treatment and education are available. To these tasks the International Society for Crippled Children and its local affiliated group, the Pickaway County Easter Seal committee, have devoted themselves. In furtherance of their duties in this field they annually place on sale Easter Seals to raise the necessary funds. The Easter Seal sale opened last Monday and continuing until Easter Sunday, is one which pays dividends and is deserving of wholehearted public support.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY SPORTSMEN

MEN: The 250-odd persons who partook of your annual red snapper banquet Tuesday evening were pleased with the big event, but many were not satisfied with the speaking end of the evening. There are many persons available in Ohio who could have added some spice to the evening; told the sportsmen and their guests many things they did not know about the conservation program in the state. I urge leaders of the organization to try to make next year's speaking program as interesting as possible.

TO HOUSEWIVES

LADIES: Mark the date March 17 on your calendar, and arrange to attend the three-day sessions of the 1937 Cooking School presented by The Daily Herald at the Cliftona Theatre. The institute presents an excellent opportunity for you to improve your proficiency in modern cookery, learn new recipes, labor-saving hints and, in general, enjoy an interesting, educational program.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

TAMMANY IS angry over the attack of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York on Hitler. The attack gives the fiery little mayor an edge on re-election in November. New York is strongly anti-Nazi and not at all strongly anti-Mussolini. La Guardia often attends Italian meetings.

STRONG La Guardia is strong. He has given New York the best administration it can remember. He is honest, he is progressive, he is stern. He pops off steam a bit too often, perhaps, but that makes him picturesque, keeps him in the public eye.

He is a bit worried now as to whether he will have the tacit Roosevelt support for re-election or whether the administration will support somebody else against him. Tammany selects a Farley man, who will try to swing administration support to that man. You recall there was a Farley "Independent" Democrat in the 1933 spitting Tammany's

THREATS

Threats of Nazi newspapers to make persons in the United States feel sorry for La Guardia's remarks seem foolish to many. But perhaps the Germans are preparing to "place the blame" once more for impending financial collapse. The trade against the Americans burst forth when American creditors learned that the German debt was five times the amount that had been stated. Bondholders in America, and banks involved in the standard agreement on debts for credits, were shaken considerably.

DARK DAYS

There may be a great hullabaloo at the moment over the "increasing prosperity" of the world, but it is becoming apparent that much of it is on borrowed money or badly depreciated money. That does not help the average person. It does help the speculator, the armament profiteer. France has removed the penalty against repatriated French capital. Gold again may be bought and sold freely in France. The rich who sent their francs abroad now will be able to bring them back at a profit. The old francs will buy more of the new, cheaper francs. But French capitalists still fear the French "New Deal", and their money continues to flow to the United States and Great Britain.

NO MOTHERS ALLOWED
Mexico City is to have "the first congress of fathers in history." We hear: "It will be held for the purpose of training fathers in their duties to their families, advancing social and cultural education among them, and helping them understand the reason behind the program of Socialist education in effect in Mexico."

MEXICAN NOTE
And here's another news note from Mexico: "Twenty peasants from the ejidos (communal farms) of the Laguna region will shortly travel to the United States to work in the International Harvester and General Electric plants in order to become familiar with the construction and repair of the modern machinery that is being rapidly installed on the collective farms."

sheriff has often urged that reports of robberies be made as soon as they are discovered. If this policy is followed chances are that culprits will be apprehended in due course of time. Any time you observe strange cars parked along highways, especially near your buildings, try to obtain license numbers and descriptions of the vehicles. This information may become very valuable in case of theft. The sheriff and his men have proved willing to work with you at all times in an effort to reduce the number of thefts, and they deserve your aid, too.

CIRCUITEER

TO BUSINESS WOMEN

LADIES: Your annual Public Relations dinner, held Thursday evening, was a splendid success. This event is always one of the outstanding on your yearly calendar and I hope you are as successful in the future as you have been in the past in sponsoring such gatherings. The Business and Professional Women's club has taken a high place in the field of organizations in Circleville, and this annual dinner is a splendid way in which to instruct persons outside your own group in the work of the club. Outstanding addresses have been heard every year since the club started its annual functions. More power to you in the tasks you have undertaken.

TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MERCHANTS: Appointment of a committee to study ways and means for construction of a big community house for use of Circleville and Pickaway county is timely. There is a distinct need for such an undertaking, and it is proper that the Chamber of Commerce should lead the campaign necessary to make it a possibility. I believe other civic organizations of city and county would be pleased with an invitation to assist in the program. A community house with seating capacity big enough to house the county basketball tournament is one of the major objectives back of the drive.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITY OFFICIALS

FRIENDS: Have you noticed the number of parking spaces in the downtown district this week since you started enforcing the limited parking regulation? It has made a decided difference in traffic conditions, but Saturday will be the day for a real test. Motorists know a violation means a $2 fine for the first time since the ordinance went into operation. If enforcement of the ordinance removes the congestion on W. Main street one of the city's major traffic problems will be solved. If it fails to clear up W. Main street you had better develop another system.

CIRCUITEER

TO DOG OWNERS

RESIDENTS: Epidemics of rabies have broken out in nearby counties. Many persons have been victims of rabid dogs and are undergoing Pasteur treatment. So far Pickaway county has escaped the disease, but there is always the danger of an outbreak here. Stray and unlicensed dogs should be reported to the dog warden. They will be captured, kept the legal length of time and destroyed if owners do not claim them. Residents should watch their dogs closely for signs of illness, and finding any should consult their veterinarians. Any person suffering a dog bite should consult a physician. The co-operation of dog owners with county and city health officials will prevent the disease from reaching an epidemic stage in this county.

DIET AND HEALTH

Pain at End of Spine May Denote Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I HAVE ALWAYS thought that a dog gets a great deal of satisfaction out of wagging its tail. There is a good deal of exercise to be had in wagging the tail. It is also gratifying to other animals, including humans. The tail-wagger gets along a good deal better in the world, and it is unfortunate that as humans we have allowed our tails to become rudimentary.

Dr. Clendening

Of course, we have all the rudiments of a tail. It is called the coccyx, and is attached right at the end of the spine. All the muscles that are attached to it are now rudimentary, and all the muscles in that region are liable to be flabby because we have lost the habit—the very sound, healthy habit—of wagging our tails.

A friend of mine has recently called attention to the ills that result from this. The condition is called coccydynia, or pain in the coccyx region. He has found that there is frequently a dislocation or infection of the coccygeal joint, which causes spasm in the muscles of that region. This occurs most frequently in women after childbirth. The patients often beg to have the bone cut out, and they feel as if this would improve the condition. In the experience of a good many cases, however, it has been found that this never does any good and, in fact, frequently makes things worse.

The only treatment which has been found to be beneficial is massage. It must be continued for some time, sometimes for several years, once or twice a month.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

G. B. H.: "Please write on food for growing boys and girls. I have a son of 12 and a daughter 10½. The boy weighs 143 pounds and the girl 106. They are nearly always hungry and rarely eat between meals. My husband does not do much physical labor and we spend a good deal of time arguing about how much they should eat. For breakfast, fruit, cereal, toast, milk, or hot chocolate; for lunch, soup, four pieces of bread and butter, fruit, cookies or cake and milk; for dinner, salad, meat, potatoes, vegetable, dessert and milk. Do you think this is too much for a boy of his age to eat?"

Answer: No. The boy's appetite is the best guide of what he needs. He is 30 years away from the course of overeating.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Relaxing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

The DAY THAT I FORGET

The day that you remember, the day that I forget—Swenson
COPYRIGHT—RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER 44
WHEN JANET left Harriet Casey's luncheon, she telephoned her apartment and told her maid to ask Mr. Paynter to wait if he were in before she arrived.

Then she got in a taxi and told the driver to break all speed limits getting to her apartment house across town.

When she got there, she discovered that Joel had not even been at home. But she had a guest. Mrs. Kintzing was in the living room, Janet's maid told her.

The last person in the world that Janet wanted to see that day was Amelia Kintzing. She was a fluttery little thing that Janet had met somewhere at bridge and she had been bothering Janet for weeks to join her committees, to "run over for tea". After weeks of telephone calls, she had assumed the air of an old friend.

"Guess what?" she said to Janet and Janet said coolly that she couldn't.

"I just had to tell you. Oh, darling, may I have a cup of tea? I've simply got to settle down over a cup and talk to you. Janet, where did you get that divine hat? Oh, how I envy you being able to wear those high crowned things!" Janet found herself leading the way into her sitting room with her mouth drawn tightly over her teeth. She thought: Janet Paynter, you used to have a good disposition but you haven't any more. You snap and snarl and think jealous, mean things. But, oh what is a girl to do when she has to hear from another woman that that woman has met her husband through still another woman? Mrs. Newbold? Well, she must be a new one. Janet couldn't ever remember having heard her name. Sooner or later it would come up. Joel would say casually, "If I'm not on time, don't worry. I'll be along directly. I've got to have some cocktails with Mrs. Newbold."

And then Janet would know that this was the new woman. She would go out and buy a new frock and a new hat and come back to her beautiful home and Joel would come in later and she would find that she really didn't care as much as she would have once. And something that had once been tender and sweet and breath-taking would be harder now. You could drop it and it wouldn't break.

You can only keep tender things tender by nurturing them. The nutriment of love was more than words. It was a wordless thing that grew up between people when they had learned to keep the world out.

Well, Janet and Joel had let the world in. They had been forced to; it was the world that had made them. It was the world that paid them great sums so that they could live in a big house and fill it with strangers. These strangers owned them. They said, "We want you," and they smiled when they said it and you found yourself making dates with women other than your wife because the invitation was casual.

If you were Janet, you made dates with other men. All perfectly above board and on-the-level dates with people that your husband might know. You made engagements with them because your husband was at the theater every evening and you were no longer a bride who could while away her lonely evening hours reading travel books and dreaming of the wonderful things that you would see with your husband. In fact, you seldom planned engagements, let alone journeys to fascinating lands with your husband, because if you planned to do something after the theater on Friday night, invariably you found that Friday night was the night your husband promised to play poker with the boys or you had tickets for a show and you were expected to go dancing somewhere later. You couldn't get out of the later date because the man who was your escort wouldn't have a girl. So you can see why you couldn't invite your husband to join you later, don't you?

It was all very involved and Janet felt that she couldn't quite get a grasp on it all as she sat listening to Amelia's chatter that March afternoon. She had long given up any hope of getting a grasp on Amelia but heretofore her lack of orientation had been purely conversational.

This afternoon it was physical. She had an illusion that Amelia kept receding from her view as though her chair were being pulled back and forth on a track. What she probably needed was sleep, she decided. She had really been working very hard. And playing hard. And being someone that she was not.

She said "Really?" and "Of course" and a whole series of inconsequential things and then she realized that Amelia was talking about Russell.

"My dear, she got off the boat"—Janet hadn't any idea who had got off the boat—"and went straight to Reno. So I suppose now she'll marry Russell. He was simply mad about her the year that we came out but his father's death and all. So she married him. I always thought it was funny that Russell never married and now we know it was because he was in love with Althea all these years. At least that's what we think, don't you?"

Janet said she didn't think anything about it.

She was thinking: Russell is going to marry someone else! Amelia left a few minutes later and Janet sat in her dusk filled room holding a cup of cold tea in her hand.

She was going to lose Russell. She needed Russell. She had fitted him into a place where she had wanted Joel to be but she didn't know that.

Suddenly she felt completely alone and lost. Weak tears came into her eyes and spilled over to her cheeks. She felt their moisture on her cold hands without knowing that she was crying.

Katie came in and lit the lamps.

Then Martha's strong arms were around her.

Still Janet didn't move. "Will you want dinner, Mrs. Paynter?" Janet didn't answer her. "Mr. Paynter is dining at his club," Katie reminded her. Janet got up. "No," she said vaguely. "I'm going out."

She went to her room and put on her coat and hat. She knew that she should put on a warm coat but suddenly she was in a hurry and her suit coat was enough even though she felt cold. She was going to Chester—to Martha Colby.

She shivered in her thin coat and sat huddled up in her seat in the accommodation train that made every stop on its slow progress to Connecticut and to Chester. There were no taxis waiting at the small station, so she walked the short distance to Martha's house. She had walked that same path many times in years gone by. Stitches of those times came back to her. She remembered the time that she had won an award in the secretarial school and proudly carried home the certificate rolled up under her arm. She felt her pulse and half expected to find the rose there.

She thought: Tonight might be the night that I am going to the Alpha Omega dance with Ernie Layton. Martha has made me a rose colored, taffeta dress for a birthday present.

Her legs felt strangely light and her cheeks burned. She wiped away the tears that seemed to be falling without reason. She wiped them with the finger of her soft suede gloves. The finger tips felt stiff.

At last she saw the familiar, friendly lights of Martha's house. She walked up the path she had tread hundreds of times. This time she did not see that the tulip fringe of the walk was beginning to break into brave colors.

She stumbled a little on the worn steps and raised a heavy hand to open the door. "Martha!" she said from the door.

Then Martha's strong arms were around her and in the distance she heard Martha say, "Why, Janet, baby!"

"You'll help me, won't you? I'm afraid, Martha. I'm scared to death." That was all she remembered.

OPEN LETTERS

TO SEAL PURCHASERS

FRIENDS: Few appeals for public attention and support come with more reason and urgency than the one made annually in behalf of crippled children. In a modern world which moves swiftly and sometimes ruthlessly, it is warming and satisfying to know there are agencies devoted exclusively to the welfare of these deserving youngsters. Starting life, many of them, with less than a full chance, most of the boys and girls crippled by disease or accident have acquired through modern science an opportunity to live a complete and happy life. Problems arise in finding the children early enough in life for satisfactory treatment and in taking them to hospitals and schools where the wonders of modern treatment and education are available. To these tasks the International Society for Crippled Children and its local affiliated group, the Pickaway County Easter Seal committee, have devoted themselves. In furtherance of their duties in this field they annually place on sale Easter Seals to raise the necessary funds. The Easter Seal sale opened last Monday and continuing until Easter Sunday, is one which pays dividends and is deserving of wholehearted public support.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY SPORTSMEN

MEN: The 250-odd persons who partook of your annual red snapper banquet Tuesday evening were pleased with the big event, but many were not satisfied with the speaking end of the evening. There are many persons available in Ohio who could have added some spice to the evening; told the sportsmen and their guests many things they did not know about the conservation program in the state. I urge leaders of the organization to try to make next year's speaking program as interesting as possible.

CIRCUITEER

TO HOUSEWIVES

LADIES: Mark the date March 17 on your calendar, and arrange to attend the three-day sessions of the 1937 Cooking School presented by The Daily Herald at the Cliftona Theatre. The institute presents an excellent opportunity for you to improve your proficiency in modern cookery, learn new recipes, labor-saving hints and, in general, enjoy an interesting, educational program.

CIRCUITEER

TO COUNTY FARMERS

FOLK: You can be of much assistance to Sheriff Charles Radcliff and his deputies if you will co-operate in an effort to prevent thefts of stock and produce. The sheriff has often urged that reports of robberies be made as soon as they are discovered. If this policy is followed chances are that culprits will be apprehended in due course of time. Any time you observe strange cars parked along highways, especially near your buildings, try to obtain license numbers and descriptions of the vehicles. This information may become very valuable in case of theft. The sheriff and his men have proved willing to work with you at all times in an effort to reduce the number of thefts, and they deserve your aid, too.

CIRCUITEER

TO BUSINESS WOMEN

LADIES: Your annual Public Relations dinner, held Thursday evening, was a splendid success. This event is always one of the outstanding on your yearly calendar and I hope you are as successful in the future as you have been in the past in sponsoring such gatherings. The Business and Professional Women's club has taken a high place in the field of organizations in Circleville, and this annual dinner is a splendid way in which to instruct persons outside your own group in the work of the club. Outstanding addresses have been heard every year since the club started its annual functions. More power to you in the tasks you have undertaken.

TO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

MERCHANTS: Appointment of a committee to study ways and means for construction of a big community house for use of Circleville and Pickaway county is timely. There is a distinct need for such an undertaking, and it is proper that the Chamber of Commerce should lead the campaign necessary to make it a possibility. I believe other civic organizations of city and county would be pleased with an invitation to assist in the program. A community house with seating capacity big enough to house the county basketball tournament is one of the major objectives back of the drive.

CIRCUITEER

TO CITY OFFICIALS

FRIENDS: Have you noticed the number of parking spaces in the downtown district this week since you started enforcing the limited parking regulation? It has made a decided difference in traffic conditions, but Saturday will be the day for a real test. Motorists know a violation means a $2 fine for the first time since the ordinance went into operation. If enforcement of the ordinance removes the congestion on W. Main street one of the city's major traffic problems will be solved. If it fails to clear up W. Main street you had better develop another system.

CIRCUITEER

TO DOG OWNERS

RESIDENTS: Epidemics of rabies have broken out in nearby counties. Many persons have been victims of rabid dogs and are undergoing Pasteur treatment. So far Pickaway county has escaped the disease, but there is always the danger of an outbreak here. Stray and unlicensed dogs should be reported to the dog warden. They will be captured, kept the legal length of time and destroyed if owners do not claim them. Residents should watch their dogs closely for signs of illness, and finding any should consult their veterinarians. Any person suffering a dog bite should consult a physician. The co-operation of dog owners with county and city health officials will prevent the disease from reaching an epidemic stage in this county.

World At A Glance

TAMMANY IS angry over the attack of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York on Hitler. The attack gives the fiery little mayor an edge on re-election in November. New York is strongly anti-Nazi and not at all strongly anti-Mussolini. La Guardia often attends Italian meetings.

THREATS Threats of Nazi newspapers to make persons in the United States feel sorry for La Guardia's remarks seem foolish to many. But perhaps the Germans are preparing to "place the blame" once more for impending financial collapse. The trade against the Americans burst forth when American creditors learned that the German debt was five times the amount that had been stated. Bondholders in America, and banks involved in the standstill agreement on debts for credits, were shaken considerably.

DARK DAYS

There may be a great hullabaloo at the moment over the "increasing prosperity" of the world, but it is becoming apparent that much of it is on borrowed money or badly depreciated money.

That does not help the average person. It does help the speculator, the armament profiteer. France has removed the penalty against repatriated French capital. Gold again may be bought and sold freely in France. The rich who sent their francs abroad now will be able to bring them back at a profit. The old francs will buy more of the new, cheaper francs. But French capitalists still fear the French "New Deal", and their money continues to flow to the United States and Great Britain.

NO MOTHERS ALLOWED Mexico City is to have "the first congress of fathers in history." We hear: "It will be held for the purpose of training fathers in their duties to their families, advancing social and cultural education among them, and helping them understand the reason behind the program of Socialist education in effect in Mexico."

MEXICAN NOTE

And here's another news note from Mexico: "Twenty peasants from the ejidos (communal farms) of the Laguna region will shortly travel to the United States to work in the International Harvester and General Electric plants in order to become familiar with the construction and repair of the modern machinery that is being rapidly installed on the collective farms."

DIET AND HEALTH

Pain at End of Spine May Denote Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I HAVE ALWAYS thought that a dog gets a great deal of satisfaction out of wagging its tail. There is a good deal of exercise to be had in wagging the tail. It is also ingratiating to other animals, including humans. The tail-wagger gets along a good deal better in the world, and it is unfortunate that as humans we have allowed our tails to become rudimentary.

Dr. Clendening

Of course, we have all the rudiments of a tail. It is called the coccyx, and is attached right at the end of the spine. All the muscles that are attached to it are now rudimentary, and all the muscles in that region are liable to be flabby because we have lost the habit—the very sound, healthy habit—of wagging our tails.

A friend of mine has recently called attention to the ills that result from this. The condition is called coccygodynia, or pain in the coccyx region. He has found that there is frequently a dislocation or infection of the coccygeal joint, which causes spasm in the muscles of that region. This occurs most frequently in women after childbirth. The patients often beg to have the bone cut out, and they feel as if this would improve the condition. In the experience of a good many cases, however, it has been found that this never does any good and, in fact, frequently makes things worse.

The only treatment which has been found to be beneficial is massage. It must be continued for some time; sometimes for several years, once or twice a month.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

G. B. H.: "Please write on food for growing boys and girls. I have a son of 12 and a daughter 10½. The boy weighs 143 pounds and the girl 106. They are nearly always hungry and rarely eat between meals. My husband does not do much physical labor and we spend a good deal of time arguing about how much they should eat. For breakfast, fruit, cereal, toast, milk, or hot chocolate; for lunch, soup, four pieces of bread and butter, fruit, cookies or cake and milk; for dinner, salad, meat, potatoes, vegetable, dessert and milk. Do you think this is too much for a boy of his age to eat?"

Answer: No. The boy's appetite is the best guide of what he needs. He is 30 years away from the curse of overeating.

CHAPTER 44

WHEN JANET left Harriet Casey's luncheon, she telephoned her apartment and told her maid to ask Mr. Paynter to wait if he were in before she arrived.

Then she got in a taxi and told the driver to break all speed limits getting to her apartment house across town.

When she got there, she discovered that Joel had not even been at home. But she had a guest. Mrs. Kintzing was in the living room, Janet's maid told her.

The last person in the world that Janet wanted to see that day was Amelia Kintzing. She was a flutty little thing that Janet had met somewhere at bridge and she had been bothering Janet for weeks to join her committees, to "run over for tea". After weeks of telephone calls, she had assumed the air of an old friend.

"Guess what?" she said to Janet and Janet said coolly that she couldn't.

"I just had to tell you. Oh, darling, may I have a cup of tea? I've simply got to settle down over a cup and talk to you. Janet, where did you get that divine hat? Oh, how I envy you being able to wear those high crowned things!"

Janet found herself leading the way into her sitting room with her mouth drawn tightly over her teeth. She thought: Janet Paynter, you used to have a good disposition but you haven't any more. You snap and snarl and think jealous, mean things. But, oh what is a girl to do when she has to hear from another woman that that woman has met her husband through still another woman? Mrs. Newbold? Well, she must be a new one. Janet couldn't ever remember having heard her name. Sooner or later it would come up. Joel would say casually, "If I'm not on time, don't worry. I'll be along directly. I've got to have some cocktails with Mrs. Newbold."

And then Janet would know that this was the new woman. She would go out and buy a new frock and a new hat and come back to her beautiful home and Joel would come in later and she would find that she really didn't care as much as she would have once. And something that had once been tender and sweet and breath-taking would be harder now. You could drop it and it wouldn't break.

You can only keep tender things tender by nurturing them. The nutriment of love was more than words. It was a wordless thing that grew up between people when they had learned to keep the world out.

Well, Janet and Joel had let the world in. They had been forced to; it was the world that had made them. It was the world that paid them great sums so that they could live in a big house and fill it with strangers. These strangers owned them. They said, "We want you," and they smiled when they said it and you found yourself making dates with women other than your wife because the invitation was casual.

If you were Janet, you made dates with other men. All perfectly above board and on-the-level dates with people that your husband might know. You made engagements with them because your husband was at the theatre every evening and you were no longer a bride who could while away her lonely evenings hours reading travel books and dreaming of the wonderful things that you would see with your husband. In fact, you seldom planned engagements, let alone journeys to fascinating lands with your husband, because if you planned to do something after the theater on Friday night, invariably you found that Friday night was the night your husband promised

Janet said she didn't think anything about it.

She was thinking: Russell is going to marry someone else!

Amelia left a few minutes later and Janet sat in her dusk filled room holding a cup of cold tea in her hand.

She was going to lose Russell. She needed Russell. She had fitted him into a place where she had wanted Joel to be but she didn't know that.

Suddenly she felt completely alone and lost. Weak tears came into her eyes and spilled over to her cheeks. She felt their moisture on her cold hands without knowing that she was crying.

Katie came in and lit the lamps.

to play poker with the boys or you had tickets for a show and you were expected to go dancing somewhere later. You couldn't get out of the later date because the man who was your escort wouldn't have a girl. So you can see why you couldn't invite your husband to join you later, don't you?

It was all very involved and Janet felt that she couldn't quite get a grasp on it at all as she sat listening to Amelia's chatter that March afternoon. She had long given up any hope of getting a grasp on Amelia but heretofore her lack of orientation had been purely conversational.

This afternoon it was physical. She had an illusion that Amelia kept receding from her view as though her chair were being pulled back and forth on a track. What she probably needed was sleep, she decided. She had really been working very hard. And playing hard. And being someone that she was not.

She said "Really?" and "Of course" and a whole series of inconsequential things and then she realized that Amelia was talking about Russell.

"My dear, she got off the boat"—Janet hadn't any idea who had got off the boat—"and went straight to Reno. So I suppose now she'll marry Russell. He was simply mad about her the year that we came out but his father's death and all. So she married him. I always thought it was funny that Russell never married and now we know it was because he was in love with Althea all these years. At least that's what we think, don't you?"

Janet said she didn't think anything about it.

Women's Club, Guests Enjoy Dinner Meeting

Miss Ella K. Vogel
Principal Speaker
at Dinner

Before an audience of 76 members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's club, Miss Ella K. Vogel, of Somerset, Pa., delivered an inspirational and educational address, Thursday evening.

St. Philip's Parish House formed a background of dignity and charm for the Public Relations Dinner. This dinner is an annual event. The long tables were centered with bowls of blooming forsythia, while at either end of the tables, tall crystal vases of vari-colored snapdragons added colorful notes. Green and white candles burned in crystal holders, and green and white napkins, further carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme. Places were marked with attractive cards, bearing the seal of the club, and a miniature reproduction of the original plat of Circleville.

After the guests had taken their places, Miss Clara Southward read the club collect and the two-course dinner was served.

Following the dinner, Miss Minnie Palm, president of the club, told of the custom of having these dinners once a year, and of the various organizations which have been entertained in recent years. This year it was decided that each member should ask a few friends, and the number present spoke of the interest the public had in the work of the club.

Miss Palm turned the meeting over to Miss Rains, public relations chairman. Miss Rains gave a brief resume of the organization of the club. She said that it is the largest national women's organization in the world, having 1,500 active clubs in 48 states, with 63,000 members. It is non-partisan, non-sectarian, self-supporting and self-governing. The idea of the club originated at the time of the World War, but the first club was not formed until 1919, when it had its beginning in a small way in St. Louis. The club slogan was "Better Business Women in a Better Business World". The Ohio Federation was formed in Columbus in 1920. There are 53 clubs in Ohio with a membership of 2,800. The first National Business Women's week was held in 1928.

As the first number of the evening's program, Miss Marjorie Priest offered a group of songs.

Her first solo was "The Cradle", by Fritz Kreisler, and the second "The Robin Woman", from the opera, Shawenisi, by Cadman. Miss Priest was in splendid voice and her selections were well received. Miss Anna Schleyer giving her a sympathetic accompaniment at the piano.

Miss Rains introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Vogel, who won her audience with her opening remarks. She opened her talk with a mention of the club origin, and told how in the short life of the club it had grown into an international organization, with membership in 24 countries. She spoke of the unusual growth of the club in the last year, predicting that the club goal of 100,000 members would be reached very soon.

She mentioned some of the outstanding club members. One on the West Coast, owns and operates the largest fleet of coast vessels for both freight and passenger trade on the coast. Another woman in Indiana is in business with her brother and father, in road construction work, and actively engages in the work. A woman in Baltimore has owned and operated a flour mill for 15 years. The first woman governor, Nellie Taloe Ross, of Wyoming, who is now a director of the mint, is a club member, Josephine Roche, of Denver, Colo., assistant secretary of the Treasury, is another. Mrs. Roosevelt is a member in New York. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is a member in Northampton, Mass. Then in Ohio, Judge Florence Allen, a supreme court judge, is a member. She spoke of many other notable women, and told of the founding of the International Federation in Geneva in 1930.

She told the audience that the Circleville club was a member of the International Federation, and complimented the members on this fact. She gently derided the women's pages of American newspapers in telling the fact that Lena Madison Phillips' visit to Paris in 1928, was recounted on the front pages of all leading Parisian newspapers in a three and one-half column spread on a five column page. Many clubs were formed in foreign countries in the years 1928, 1929, leading up to the assembling of 200 delegates from 14 countries, when the International Federation was formed.

She spoke of many pioneer women workers in the foreign countries, and the work they had accomplished. In conclusion, she told of many interesting and amusing experiences which she had in foreign lands.

Miss Rains then asked the guests to remain for a social hour, and at that time many were privileged to talk informally with the guest speaker.

Miss Anna Schleyer, Miss Mary Ebert and Miss Helen Rowe were members of the committee who arranged the annual affair.

APPLES ON STICKS—Twelve red apples, 12 skewers, two cups sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup, three-fourths cup water, prepare apples by scrubbing and thoroughly drying. Insert skewers. Put sugar, corn syrup and water into the top part of a double boiler. Heat over a slow heat, stirring until the sugar is dissolved and the boiling point is reached. After that, do not stir. Cook to 300 degrees Fahrenheit, or until a small amount, when tried in cold water, is very brittle. During the cooking, any crystals which form on the sides of the pan should be wiped down with a clean, damp cloth wrapped around the tines of a fork. As soon as the syrup is cooked to 300 degrees plunge the pan into the lower part of the double boiler which should have boiling water in it. This prevents the syrup from cooling too much during the dipping. Now dip the apples one at a time into the syrup. As each one is dipped, hold it up and swirl slowly until syrup completely covers apple. Place in rack and let cool while other apples are dipped. These are best dipped and served the same day they are used.

Women's Club, Guests Enjoy Dinner Meeting

Miss Ella K. Vogel
Principal Speaker
at Dinner

Before an audience of 76 members and guests of the Business and Professional Women's club, Miss Ella K. Vogel, of Somerset, Pa., delivered an inspirational and educational address, Thursday evening.

St. Philip's Parish House formed a background of dignity and charm for the Public Relations Dinner. This dinner is an annual event. The long tables were centered with bowls of blooming forsythia, while at either end of the tables, tall crystal vases of vari-colored snapdragons added colorful notes. Green and white candles burned in crystal holders, and green and white napkins, further carried out the St. Patrick's Day theme. Places were marked with attractive cards, bearing the seal of the club, and a miniature reproduction of the original plat of Circleville.

After the guests had taken their places, Miss Clara Southward read the club collect and the two-course dinner was served.

Following the dinner, Miss Minnie Palm, president of the club told of the custom of having these dinners once a year, and of the various organizations which have been entertained in recent years. This year it was decided that each member should ask a few friends, and the number present spoke of the interest the public had in the work of the club.

Miss Palm turned the meeting over to Miss Rains, public relations chairman. Miss Rains gave a brief resume of the organization of the club. She said that it is the largest national women's organization in the world, having 1,500 active clubs in 48 states, with 63,000 members. It is non-partisan, non-sectarian, self-supporting and self governing. The idea of the club originated at the time of the World War, but the first club was not formed until 1919, when it had its beginning in a small way in St. Louis. The club slogan was "Better Business Women in a Better Business World". The Ohio Federation was formed in Columbus in 1920. There are 53 clubs in Ohio with a membership of 2,800. The first National Business Women's week was held in 1928.

As the first number of the evening's program, Miss Marjorie Priest offered a group of songs.

Her first solo was "The Cradle", by Fritz Kreisler, and the second "The Robin Woman", from the opera Shawenits, by Cadman. Miss Priest was in splendid voice and her selections were well received. Miss Anna Schleyer giving her a sympathetic accompaniment at the piano.

Miss Rains introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Vogel, who won her audience with her opening remarks. She opened her talk with a mention of the club origin, and told how in the short life of the club it had grown into an international organization, with membership in 24 countries. She spoke of the unusual growth of the club in the last year, predicting that the club goal of 100,000 members would be reached very soon.

She mentioned some of the outstanding club members. One on the West Coast, owns and operates the largest fleet of coast vessels for both freight and passenger trade on the coast. Another woman in

RECIPES

APPLES ON STICKS—Twelve red apples, 12 skewers, two cups sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup, three-fourths cup water. Prepare apples by scrubbing and thoroughly drying. Insert skewers. Put sugar, corn syrup and water into the top part of a double boiler. Heat over a slow heat, stirring until the sugar is dissolved and the boiling point is reached. After that, do not stir. Cook to 300 degrees Fahrenheit, or until a small amount, when tried in cold water, is very brittle. During the cooking, any crystals which form on the sides of the pan should be wiped down with a clean, damp cloth wrapped around the tines of a fork. As soon as the syrup is cooked to 300 degrees plunge the pan into the lower part of the double boiler which should have boiling water in it. This prevents the syrup from cooling too much during the dipping. Now dip the apples one at a time into the syrup. As each one is dipped, hold it up and twirl slowly until syrup completely covers apple. Place in rack and let cool while other apples are dipped. These are best dipped and served the same day they are used.

Frozen Salad

One-half pound pimento cream cheese, one cup salad dressing, one cup whipped cream, one-half cup seeded grapes, one-fourth cup crushed pineapple, drained; eight marshmallows, cut fine; two tablespoons celery, cut fine; two tablespoons green pepper, chopped. Cream the cheese. Add salad dressing, whipped cream and other ingredients. Stir well. Pour into freezing tray and freeze. Keeps well for several days. Serve on lettuce.

Today's Recipes

GERMAN BAVARIAN ONION PIE—One and one-half cups flour, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon sugar, one small cold boiled potato, grated, one and one-half tablespoons lard, one-half cup milk, one egg, beaten; one-fourth cup thick sour cream or one-fourth teaspoon caraway seed. For onion pie dough: Mix and sift dry ingredients with grated potato. Rub in lard with tips of fingers. Add milk gradually, enough to make a soft dough, using a knife in mixing. Pat and roll out to three-eighths inch thickness. Place on well-greased pie pan and build up fluted edges around pie. For filling: Peel and slice four or five medium onions and fry in half a cup of bacon fat, until almost done. Add one-fourth teaspoon salt and half a cup of bacon fat, until almost done. Add one-fourth teaspoon sugar, also one sprig pars-

Sandusky Puts Another Five Out of Its Path

COLUMBUS, March 12 — (UP) — Ohio's defending scholastic basketball champions, Newark and Sandusky St. Marys, continue their fight for places in the annual state court classic tonight when they play district tournament games at Delaware and Fremont. Newark goes against Marion Harding in a semi-final game of the Central district tournament. Marion fell before Newark in the finals of this tournament a year ago.

Sandusky St. Marys has only one hurdle remaining in its path to the state meet. The fine little combination of Coach Lee Zierolf defeated Jackson 39 to 35 last night and has as its opponent in the finals a rangy Elmore quintet. Elmore reached the last round by virtue of an easy 31 to 19 triumph over Vermilion.

Play in Full Swing
Play in all of the state's 16 tournament centers will be in full swing today. After the conclusion of the day all tournaments will at least have reached the semi-finals.

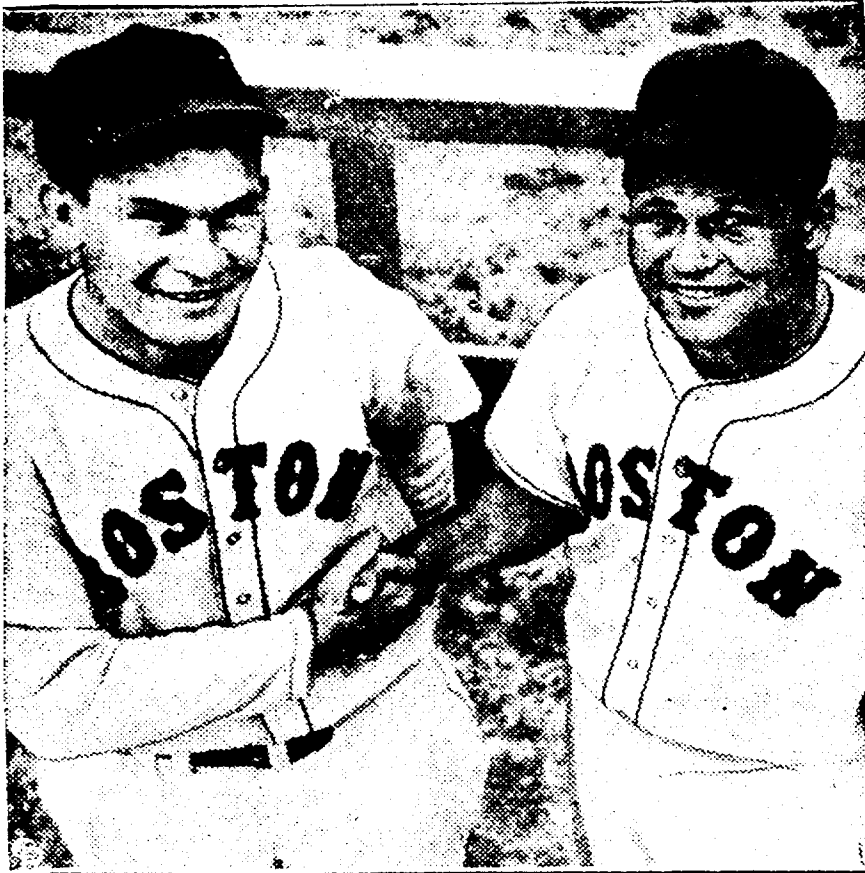

The champions in two centers, the Class "A" at Napoleon and Class "B" at Fremont, will be crowned tonight and these winners will join Rossford, Lucasville and Middleport as the fortunate combines already assured of state tournament berths.

The great Massillon quintet, beaten only once this season and an early favorite of many experts for the state crown, gained additional supporters by the manner in which it won from Howland 49 to 12 in a game that topped last night's Class "A" schedule.

Coach Paul E. Brown of Massillon used his first string players only slightly more than one-half the contest. Howland went to the Akron tournament as one of the six survivors from the sectional at Youngstown.

Barberton in Path
The only quintet that now blocks Massillon's entrance into the state tournament was Barberton, which gained a 27 to 13 victory over Ashtabula. Massillon downed Barberton 32 to 16 during the regular season and will be

Cardinals, Still Minus Dean, to Meet Giants

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals leave today for Havana where they will engage the New York Giants in a pair of games Saturday and Sunday.

They go without ace pitcher Dizzy Dean who still demands $50,000, with Owner Sam Breadon offering $22,500 observers predict they will get together at around $30,000 in another week or 10 days.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson, following the example of the late John J.

McGraw, ordered all of his players to undergo a strict physical examination today.

HAVANA, March 12.—(UP)—Manager Bill Terry, satisfied with the form shown by his pitching staff, put his New York Giant batters through a sharp drill today in preparation for two games against the St. Louis Cardinals this week-end. Giant sluggers were held to five hits yesterday in 12 innings as they played a 1-1 tie with an all-star Cuban nine. Three New York hurlers distributed the same number to the all-stars, with Al Smith turning in the best performance—three perfect innings.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Detroit Tiger sluggers have found their batting eyes and Manager Cochrane was convinced today his team would be in the thick of the 1937 American league pennant fight. In yesterday's practice game when the veterans defeated the rookies, 4 to 3, Al Simmons cracked a homer and a double, Hank Greenberg sacked a triple and Gee Walker collected a brace of two-baggers.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—First Baseman Buddy Hassett of the Brooklyn Dodgers was Manager Burleigh Grimes' only holdout worry today. Hassett, offered $7,500 and demanding $8,000, was left outside alone yesterday when Pitcher Van Mungo signed for $15,000, an increase of $3,500.

TAMPA, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—In the Cincinnati Reds first practice game of the season, a nine-inning affair between picked teams, George Kelly's squad defeated Tom Sheehan's nine, 1 to 0, yesterday. The only score came in the second inning when McCormick doubled, took third on a passed ball and came home on an infield hit.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Rapid improvement of Pitcher Monte Pearson's wrenched ankle was reported in the New York Yankee camp today. Pearson discarded his crutches yesterday, and said he probably would be back in uniform after a couple more days of rest. In the Yankees' first practice game yesterday, the veterans overwhelmed the rookies, 8 to 0, with Lefty Gomez showing up better on the pitcher's mound than at any time in the last two years.

GOLDEN MILLER FAVORED
LONDON, March 12.—(UP)—Miss Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller was the 100-12 favorite to win the grand national steeplechase next Friday at Aintree.

BIG TEN TEAMS TO VIE IN FIVE INDOOR JOUSTS

CHICAGO, March 12.—(UP)—The finest athletes in the middle-west competed for championships in five sports today in five Big Ten indoor meets and two rival track and field carnivals.

Chief attraction was the western conference track meet at the University of Chicago, where Michigan appeared certain of extending its long indoor reign.

Big Ten swimming champions will be crowned at Indiana, conference wrestlers clash at Michigan, gymnasts at Iowa and fencers at Northwestern.

Drawing the best of the non-conference schools in the eastern sector was the established central intercollegiate track meet at Notre Dame. A third major track carnival — the midwest intercollegiate at Naperville, Ill. — will bring together more than 200 stars from five states in the western section. Michigan's great strength, as in other years, lay in almost perfect balance. The Wolverines entered positive point-winners in every event but the high jump and may slip in even there.

COAST FIGHTER MOVES EAST TO MEET BELLOISE

NEW YORK, March 12.—(UP)—Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles negro featherweight, confidently predicted today he would kayo former champion Mike Belloise of New York inside of six rounds when they meet in the 10-round feature bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Armstrong was a 7-5 favorite but Belloise, who was substituted for Aldo Spoldi when the Italian injured his hand, was just as confident that he would outpoint the flashy California negro who is recognized as feather champion on the west coast.

Belloise welcomes the return match to avenge the close 10-round decision earned by Armstrong in their meeting in Los Angeles last summer. It will be Armstrong's first appearance in the east.

About This And That In Many Sports

Grove City Scheduled

Grove City, athletic-minded Franklin county town, has been added to the 1937 football schedule of Circleville high school. — Grove City, a class B school, but always strong in football and basketball, has returned signed contracts to Principal E. E. Reger calling for a game in Circleville Nov. 12 and a return contest in Grove City in 1938. — The contest next fall will close the Red and Black schedule for the year. — Games are to be contracted for basketball, too. . . .

Strong Schools Sought

There are possibilities that several good teams will be on the Tiger schedule next fall. — In addition to several smaller schools, Logan, Hillsboro, Xenia, Mt. Vernon and New Lexington are being sought. . . .

Vander Meer King

This Johnny Vander Meer, who has signed with the Cincinnati Reds, is the strikeout king of 1936's organized baseball. — Johnny, pitching for Durham in the Piedmont loop, broke the league record for whiffs with 20 against Asheville July 23, and also set up a new high for the loop by fanning 295 men in 214 innings, averaging better than 12 to a game. — In addition to his single game mark other noteworthy fanning bees were: 19 against Norfolk, June 11; 17 against Portsmouth, July 3; 14 against Norfolk, Aug. 4; 14 against Asheville, Aug. 11; 14 against Rocky Mount, Aug. 25; 13 against Richmond, Sept. 1. . . .

Winning Streaks Needed

Winning streaks lead to pennants in the National league. — In the last three years pennant annexes have featured sustained winning streaks. — St. Louis, in 1934, thrice took seven games in a row; Chicago, in 1935, produced a streak of 21 triumphs, and New York, in 1936, came through with a string of 15. — When the Giants were stopped on Aug. 29 at Pittsburgh, a former McGrawite, Red Lucas, was the Pirate hurler. — A 4-bagger by Cardinal Medwick ended the Cub streak a year earlier. . . .

Sandusky St. Marys has only one hurdle remaining in its path to the state meet. The fine little combination of Coach Lee Zierolf defeated Jackson 39 to 35 last night and has as its opponent in the finals a rangy Elmore quintet. Elmore reached the last round by virtue of an easy 31 to 19 triumph over Vermilion.

Play in Full Swing
Play in all of the state's 16 tournament centers will be in full swing today. After the conclusion of the day all tournaments will at least have reached the semi-finals.

The champions in two centers, the Class "A" at Napoleon and Class "B" at Fremont, will be crowned tonight and these winners will join Rossford, Lucasville and Middletown as the fortunate combines already assured of state tournament berths.

The great Massillon quintet, beaten only once this season and an early favorite of many experts for the state crown, gained additional supporters by the manner in which it won from Howland 49 to 12 in a game that topped last night's Class "A" schedule.

Coach Paul E. Brown of Massillon used his first string players only slightly more than one-half the contest. Howland went to the Akron tournament as one of the six survivors from the sectional at Youngstown.

Barberton in Path

The only quintet that now blocks Massillon's entrance into the state tournament was Barberton, which gained a 27 to 13 victory over Ashtabula. Massillon downed Barberton 32 to 16 during the regular season and will be

Cardinals, Still Minus Dean, to Meet Giants

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals leave today for Havana where they will engage the New York Giants in a pair of games Saturday and Sunday. They go without ace pitcher Dizzy Dean who still demands $50,000, with Owner Sam Breadon offering $22,500 observers predict they will get together at around $30,000 in another week or 10 days.

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Manager Jimmy Wilson, following the example of the late John J.

favoring heavily to repeat when the teams collide tomorrow night. Another favorite in the Northeastern district, Akron West, pulled through with a handy 48 to 20 decision over Youngstown Chaney. West must battle its city rival, St. Vincent, for a state meet berth.

A smooth working Hamilton Public team took the spotlight in the strong Southwestern district tournament at Dayton when it bested Miamisburg, a competitor in the state meet in 1936, 34 to 11.

A lightly regarded Class "B" school, Independence, provided the major upsets of last night's play, when it defeated Oberlin 21 to 19 at Ravenna.

Five points in the final 90 seconds of play by Clarence Serus, Independence forward, provided his quintet with the victory.

DEMAREE ADAMANT

AVALON, Santa Catalina Island, Cal., March 12.—(UP)—Chicago Cubs buckled down to workouts on the island diamond today without their leading batsman, Frank Demaree. He became the Cubs' first legitimate holdout since 1923 when Vic Aldridge held out until the opening day of the National league season. First workouts included heavy bat work.

McGraw, ordered all of his players to undergo a strict physical examination today.

HAVANA, March 12.—(UP)—Manager Bill Terry, satisfied with the form shown by his pitching staff, put his New York Giant batters through a sharp drill today in preparation for two games against the St. Louis Cardinals this week-end. Giant sluggers were held to five hits yesterday in 12 innings as they played a 1-1 tie with an all-star Cuban nine. Three New York hurlers distributed the same number to the all-stars, with Al Smith turning in the best performance—three perfect innings.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Detroit Tiger sluggers have found their batting eyes and Manager Cochrane was convinced today his team would be in the thick of the 1937 American league pennant fight. In yesterday's practice game when the veterans defeated the rookies, 4 to 3, Al Simmons cracked a homer and a double, Hank Greenberg sledged a triple and Gee Walker collected a brace of two-baggers.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—First Baseman Buddy Hassett of the Brooklyn Dodgers was Manager Burleigh Grimes' only holdout worry today. Hassett, offered $7,500 and demanding $8,000, was left outside alone yesterday when Pitcher Van Mungo signed for $15,000, an increase of $3,500.

TAMPA, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—In the Cincinnati Reds first practice game of the season, a nine-inning affair between picked teams, George Kelly's squad defeated Tom Sheehan's nine, 1 to 0, yesterday. The only score came in the second inning when McCormick doubled, took third on a passed ball and came home on an infield out.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 12.—(UP)—Rapid improvement of Pitcher Monte Pearson's wrenched ankle was reported in the New York Yankee camp today. Pearson discarded his crutches yesterday, and said he probably would be back in uniform after a couple more days of rest. In the Yankees' first practice game yesterday, the veterans overwhelmed the rookies, 8 to 0, with Lefty Gomez showing up better on the pitcher's mound than at any time in the last two years.

GOLDEN MILLER FAVORED
LONDON, March 12.—(UP)—Miss Dorothy Page's Golden Miller was the 100-12 favorite to win the grand national steeplechase next Friday at Aintree.

BIG TEN TEAMS TO VIE IN FIVE INDOOR JOUSTS

CHICAGO, March 12.—(UP)—The finest athletes in the middle-west competed for championships in five sports today in five Big Ten indoor meets and two rival track and field carnivals.

Chief attraction was the western conference track meet at the University of Chicago, where Michigan appeared certain of extending its long indoor reign.

Big Ten swimming champions will be crowned at Indiana, conference wrestlers clash at Michigan, gymnasts at Iowa and fencers at Northwestern.

Drawing the best of the non-conference schools in the eastern sector was the established central intercollegiate track meet at Notre Dame. A third major track carnival—the Midwest intercollegiate at Naperville, Ill.—will bring together more than 200 stars from five states in the western section. Michigan's great strength, as in other years, lay in almost perfect balance. The Wolverines entered positive point-winners in every event but the high jump and may slip in even there.

COAST FIGHTER MOVES EAST TO MEET BELLOISE

NEW YORK, March 12.—(UP)—Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles negro featherweight, confidently predicted today he would kayo former champion Mike Belloise of New York inside of six rounds when they meet in the 10-round feature bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Armstrong was a 7-5 favorite but Belloise who was substituted for Aldo Spoldi when the Italian injured his hand, was just as confident that he would outpoint the flashy California negro who is recognized as feather champion on the west coast.

Belloise welcomes the return match to avenge the close 10-round decision earned by Armstrong in their meeting in Los Angeles last summer. It will be Armstrong's first appearance in the east.

About This And That In Many Sports

Grove City Scheduled

Grove City, athletic-minded Franklin county town, has been added to the 1937 football schedule of Circleville high school. — Grove City, a class B school, but always strong in football and basketball, has returned signed contracts to Principal E. E. Reger calling for a game in Circleville Nov. 12 and a return contest in Grove City in 1938. — The contest next fall will close the Red and Black schedule for the year. — Games are to be contracted for basketball, too. * * *

Strong Schools Sought

There are possibilities that several good teams will be on the Tiger schedule next fall. — In addition to several smaller schools, Logan, Hillsboro, Xenia, Mt. Vernon and New Lexington are being sought. * * *

Vander Meer King

This Johnny Vander Meer, who has signed with the Cincinnati Reds, is the strikeout king of 1936's organized baseball. — Johnny, pitching for Durham in the Piedmont loop, broke the league record for whittings with 20 against Asheville July 23, and also set up a new high for the loop by fanning 295 men in 214 innings, averaging better than 12 to a game. — In addition to his single game mark other noteworthy fanning bees were: 19 against Norfolk, June 11; 17 against Portsmouth, July 3; 14 against Norfolk, Aug. 4; 14 against Asheville, Aug. 11; 14 against Rocky Mount, Aug. 25; 13 against Richmond, Sept. 1. * * *

Winning Streaks Needed

Winning streaks lead to pennants in the National league. — In the last three years pennant anxieties have featured sustained winning streaks. — St. Louis, in 1934, thrice took seven games in a row; Chicago, in 1935, produced a streak of 21 triumphs, and New York, in 1936, came through with a string of 15. — When the Giants were stopped on Aug. 29 at Pittsburgh, a former McGrawite, Red Lucas, was the Pirate hurler. — A 4-bagger by Cardinal Medwick ended the Cub streak a year earlier. * * *

FALLID BIDDING

I AM GLAD that I was not East's partner when South dealt the hand shown. West behaved like an angel under most annoying circumstances. Possibly he boiled within, as I would have. East was chronically very amiable in his strategy, underbidding nine times to a single overbid. Give me a sturdy bidder, looking for games, penalties and slams, even if sometimes he fails.

Bidding went: North, 1-Diamond; East, 2-Clubs; South, 2-Diamonds; West, 2-Spades; North, 3-Diamonds; East, 4-Clubs, ending the auction.

Bidding should have gone: North, 1-Diamond; East, 3-Clubs, to force; South, 3-Diamonds; West, 3-Spades; North, pass; East, 4-Hearts, to let West shift back to clubs, if he must do so.

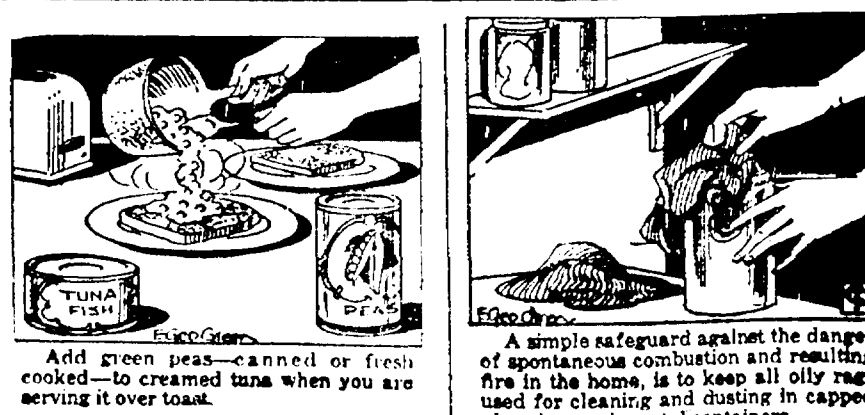

The opening lead was the 4 of diamonds. North's Ace won. His partner might hold the missing K, so North led back his 8 of diamonds, which declarer's K won. East led back the K of clubs, giving defenders their second and last trick, but of course declarer scored only 100 points for five tricks won, plus 100 points for honors held. He failed to score the all important premium for the game which he had not bid.

Had the hands been bid properly East would have played a contract of 4-Hearts and made an overtrick. The heart contract would have been somewhat more difficult to play than the club contract, but any fair player would have made an overtrick, as detailed below.

North's Ace of diamonds would win the first trick. Probably declarer's K of that suit would win the second trick, clearing North's suit. Declarer would take two rounds of winning hearts with his Ace and K, then he would have to lead clubs, to clear that suit before pulling trumps. If East first pulled trumps, North could run off diamonds, when in with his Ace of clubs, and put down the heart contract. Suppose that North did not win the first club trick. That would do him no good, because dummy, as well as South, could ruff a third lead of the suit, still giving East one overtrick.

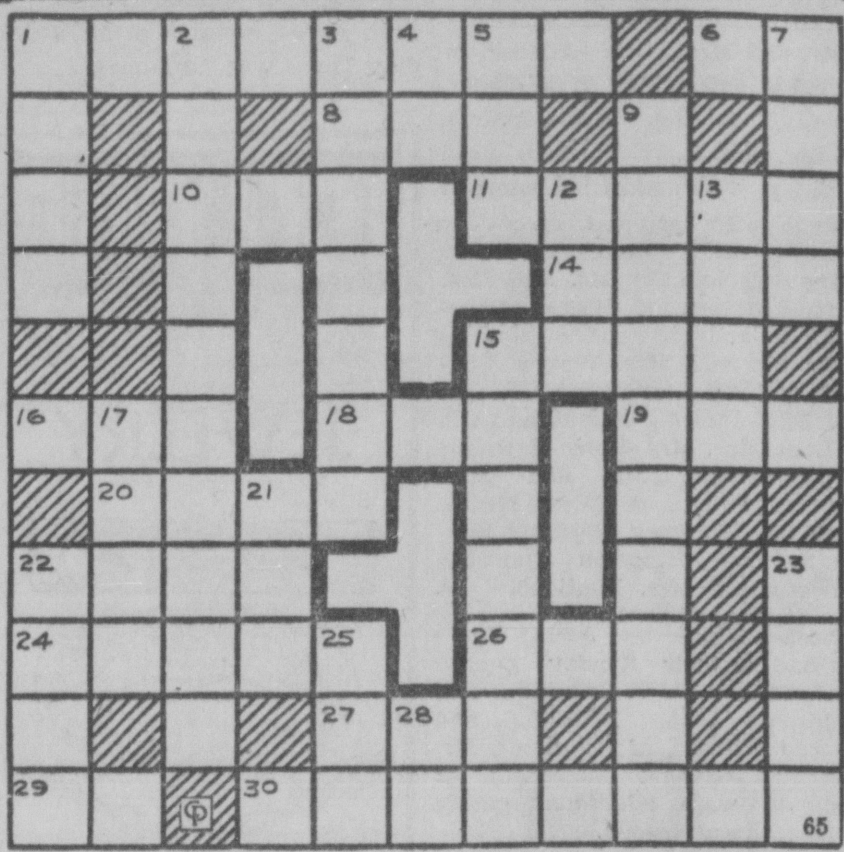

With a good partner it is no longer considered necessary to rebid a 6-card suit, before showing a 4-card suit of higher value. Bidder's partner knows that the lower ranking suit is the longer or it would not have been shown first.

PERMANENT WPA SUGGESTED BY HARRY HOPKINS

Two and Half Billions to Be Spent Annually Under Federal Program

"GOOD" PROJECTS NEEDED

Type of Work Under Civil Program Condemned

WASHINGTON, March 12 — (UP)—Permanent organization of the Works Progress Administration on a $2,500,000,000 annual spending basis has been proposed secretly to selected groups of congressmen, the United Press was informed today.

The plan was advanced by Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to cope with forecast semi-permanent unemployment of 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 persons. Hopkins refused to confirm the report but it was authenticated by a member of congress who heard it discussed in detail.

As outlined to the United Press, Hopkins estimated the maximum cost would be approximately $2,500,000,000 annually on a basis of $700 a year for each person on the WPA payroll.

Hopkins told his congressional conferees that a permanent WPA should be devoted to socially valuable and permanent projects but undertakings which would not encroach on the field of public works proper.

Permanent WPA, he suggested, might clear forests for recreational purposes, build dikes, straighten flood-menaced streams, engage in minor public improvements in cities, perform road improvement work, build or improve such municipal institutions as zoos and playgrounds and, possibly, aid in construction of school houses.

Although forest clearing definitely was a part of the program, Hopkins insisted that "this leaf-raking business is bad." He was referring to the type of work performed under the first Roosevelt relief program—the Civil Works Administration.

PERMANENT WPA SUGGESTED BY HARRY HOPKINS

Two and Half Billions to Be Spent Annually Under Federal Program

"GOOD" PROJECTS NEEDED

Type of Work Under Civil Program Condemned

WASHINGTON, March 12 — (UP)—Permanent organization of the Works Progress Administration on a $2,500,000,000 annual spending basis has been proposed secretly to selected groups of congressmen, the United Press was informed today.

The plan was advanced by Federal Emergency Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins to cope with forecast semi-permanent unemployment of 2,000,000 to 4,000,000 persons. Hopkins refused to confirm the report but it was authenticated by a member of congress who heard it discussed in detail.

As outlined to the United Press, Hopkins estimated the maximum cost would be approximately $2,500,000,000 annually on a basis of $700 a year for each person on the WPA payroll.

Hopkins told his congressional conferees that a permanent WPA should be devoted to socially valuable and permanent projects but undertakings which would not encroach on the field of public works proper.

Permanent WPA, he suggested, might clear forests for recreational purposes, build dikes, straighten flood-menaced streams, engage in minor public improvements in cities, perform road improvement work, build or improve such municipal institutions as zoos and playgrounds and, possibly, aid in construction of school houses.

Although forest clearing definitely was a part of the program, Hopkins insisted that "this leaf-raking business is bad." He was referring to the type of work performed under the first Roosevelt relief program—the Civil Works Administration.
